This clinic will be held in the especially equipped temporary hospital, in Trinity hall, Grimsby, and persons wishing to offer their blood should communicate with the committee at once.

This will be the third clinic held in Grimsby. The first one was in June, then the one in July. Persons who donated at those two clinics are not eligible to donate at this clinic. Hence the urgency for more donors.

The donors in June will be eligible for the September clinic and the July donors for the October (Continued on page 7)

St. Joseph's Garden Party Promises to be a Gala Affair—Fun And Frolic For Young And Old.

Heigh Ho, and away we go, for the big two nights of fun, frolic and frivolity at the annual St. Joseph's church Garden Party, to be held on the spacious grounds of the Rectory, next door to the church, on Paton street, on Friday and Saturday, August 27th and 28th.

There will be bingo games, wheels of fortune, darts and other games of skill, to say nothing of the hot dogs, ice cream cones and home made cakes and cookies fresh from the ovens of the lovely ladies of the parish.

The grand prize drawing this year is for cash prizes and you'd better try your luck at winning one of them.

There is also a special draw prize for a brand new Percy McBride, streamlined bicycle. In these days of tough transportation, here is your chance to win a means of locomotion.

Life Long Resident Removed by Death

Mrs. Charlotte Eliza Gamble Passes Away in Her 85th Year—Member of Two Loyalist Families.

Death removed one of Grimsby's oldest residents on Monday evening, August 9th, in the person of Mrs. Charlotte Eliza Gamble.

Deceased lady was born in Grimsby on June 19th, 1859, and was in her 85th year, being a daughter of the late Andrew Hamilton Pettit and Sarah Nixon, both being members of United Empire Loyalist pioneer families in this section.

Deceased had since childhood been a very ardent worker in St. Andrew's church and a large number of residents here now were taught in Sunday School by her. Her husband Peter H. Gamble predeceased her in 1929.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. E. A. Lancaster, St. Catharines, two nieces, Mrs. Hugh Whyte and Miss Marion Pettit, Grimsby, four nephews, E. H. Lancaster, Harry Crown Attorney for St. Catharines; C. Lancaster of Montreal and Lewis John Pettit, now serving with the United States Army.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at St. Andrew's church, Rev. J. Allan Ballard, officiating. Interment will be in Queen's Lawn cemetery.

THERE WILL BE A SHORTAGE OF CANNED FOOD PRODUCTS

Supply of Processed Vegetables Will be Fair But Canned Fruits Will be Skimpy—Tin Plate is Now Available.

LABOR COSTS RISE

Ontario Tomato Acreage is Down 20 Per Cent. Subsidies Restricted to Four Fruits For Marmalade And Jam.

(Financial Post)

A fair supply of canned vegetables but a rather skimpy supply of tinned fruits is the prospect for Canadian housewives next winter. The freezing of canned goods will undoubtedly help lenders next winter but will hardly be sufficient to prevent a shortage of certain types of tinned fruits.

That is the situation as canning authorities now size it up, basing their estimates on canned goods on hand and crop prospects ahead.

Crops are conceded to be the most critical factor in the canning industry set-up just now. While labor costs of individual canning firms have risen as much as 40 to 50%, a fairly adequate supply of labor remains available to handle crops as they come forward. (Continued on page 6)

Fred W. Pottenger Called By Death

Former Manager of Old Bank of Hamilton in Grimsby Succumbs Suddenly Last Wednesday Morning.

Death came suddenly, on Wednesday morning of last week, of a former well known resident of Grimsby, in the person of Frederick W. Pottenger.

Deceased was born in Owen Sound and for the greater part of his life was connected with the old Bank of Hamilton. He was for many years manager of the Grimsby branch of the bank and upon its absorption by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was transferred to Hamilton.

He was manager of a branch in the west end of Hamilton that the (Continued on page 7)

NO TRUE INFORMATION

There is absolutely no information out of Ottawa regarding the price ceiling on fresh fruits, or the nature of the plan that will be followed.

Authoritative sources state that it will be the last of this week and possibly the first of next week before any official announcement is made by the W.P. & T.B.

Life Guard Saves Another Child

Harry McElroy, Nine Years Old, Brought Ashore by Guard Hewson in Limp Condition.

For the third time in two weeks Lions Club Life Guards have rescued a person from drowning, at the bathing beaches.

On Monday afternoon, Harry McElroy, nine year old boy from Noranda, visiting at Grimsby Beach, was observed by Life Guard Virginia Hewson, to be in difficulties, some distance off shore and she immediately went to his aid.

The little lad had been swimming around in the water and apparently stepped in a hole or into a sudden drop of the lake bottom and becoming frightened lost control of his swimming powers and started to struggle.

When the life guard reached him he was beginning to sink. She brought him ashore and while he was limp and weak he had not taken any water aboard and was soon back to normal.

The life guards on duty this year are doing a great job.

Masons Attend Church Service

First Service of This Nature to be Held at Boys' Tabernacle—Was Well Attended—Hear Appropriate Address Delivered.

Members of Union Lodge, No. 7, Grimsby joined with members of Wilkinson Lodge, Grimsby Beach, on Sunday morning last to attend a Masonic Church service, probably the first ever held at the Beach.

Members of the two lodges gathered at Bell Park at 10 and paraded to the Boys' Tabernacle where one side of the Tabernacle was reserved for the Masons. The speaker of the morning was Bro. Gordon McCulloch of Hamilton, who brought an interesting message to those present.

At the beginning of the service a minute's silence was held in memory of a number of Beach brethren who have in past years been prominent in connection with the annual visits of Wilkinson Lodge (without dispensation) to Union Lodge each summer.

Arrangements for the service at the Beach was handled by Bro. G. Gaylard of Grimsby Beach.

From Now on All Building Lots Will be Sold Outright at Assessed Value Price—Refund When House is Erected.

GARBAGE TROUBLE

Bowling Alley And Pool Room Bylaws Will be Amended to Reduce License Fees—Lake Front Building Lot Sold.

After much discussion and thorough sifting of ideas and suggestions, Town council in regular session, last night, decided to change the method by which building lots in the Town will be sold in the future. This has been brought about by complications that have arisen recently in regard to some of the lots sold.

In the past any person who agreed to erect a residence costing over $3,500, on a lot, within one year, could secure it for $50.

From now on all building lots will be sold outright at their assessed value. If a residence is erected within one year, the purchaser will have all this purchase price refunded excepting $50.

Mayor Johnson remarked that the stand taken by the Council and the Police on the question of rowdiness on the streets and in the restaurants had borne fruit. He stated that conditions were greatly improved, but he still believed that more improvement could be made.

Fine Township Fruit Farm Sold

Gerald A. Liddle Purchases The James G. Armstrong 92 Acres on Ridge Road West.

One of the finest fruit and grain farms in North Grimsby township changed hands last week when Gerald A. Liddle purchased the James G. Armstrong 92 acres on the Ridge Road west. Jas. L. Theal negotiated the deal. Gerald has already taken possession.

This farm has been in the possession of the Armstrong family for close on a century having been bequeathed out of the bush by Mr. Armstrong's father and mother.

Away back in the spring of 1885 the late Jas. A. Livingston came to Grimsby from the county of Simcoe and the first night he spent in this district was in the old Armstrong brick cottage that burned down some years ago. He was negotiating for the purchase of this farm but the deal fell through and "Jas. A." finally wound up in the newspaper business.

Telephone Service Par Excellent

Local And Long Distance Calls on Election Night Handled in F. S. Style by Grimsby Telephone Operators.

Election night, whether it be municipal, provincial or federal, is always a hectic one in a newspaper office and last Wednesday night was no exception to the rule.

For four hours on election night the independent editorial room was a beehive. What with people asking questions, talking among themselves and telephones jangling, a novice would wonder how the editor got any work done at all.

The Independent was not the only busy spot in Grimsby. The office of the Bell Telephone Co. was just as busy. Calls were handled by the hundreds by the switchboard girls and they did their job well.

Despite war time conditions the service provided by the "Little Blue Bells" to The Independent, both local and long distance was absolutely 100 per cent and it must have been the same for other telephone users, judging from the great number of calls that came into this office.

Facts And Fancies

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

NON-VOTERS

A reader of The St. Catharines Standard, who closely observes the political scene, came to the conclusion, when he had the figures before him, that there were at least 15,000 non-voters in Lincoln County on Wednesday. He declared that these voters were both Liberal and Conservative, and he was positive that there would be mighty few C.C.F. in the number. There is good reason to think that this observer is right.

What does it portend or mean, anyway? Just that an enthusiastic minority can dominate the situation because of apathy and general public indifference. Every time a good intelligent citizen with a knowledge of affairs and with average judgment of conditions, fails to record his or her vote, the more power is given to the vote which the fanatic crank, the wild theorist, the enthusiast, casts in the polling booth.

It just means, in the final analysis, giving power to a type of mind with which the average citizen of sense would no more associate himself in a business way than he would sign a promissory note for the first vagrant who called on him. The whole set-up is stupid, letting other people do the voting, people with an axe to grind, with a "cause" of some kind. Letting such people, as it were, have a proxy. That is not democracy at all.

The more this non-voter condition is reviewed, the stronger the case becomes for compulsory legislation, to make people vote, as they do in Australia. Such a law would be a tremendous relief on party organizations, and there must be parties, of course.

Success of the C.C.F., in large part, can be attributed to the lazy, indifferent, indigent mass of Grits and Tories, who are letting them get away with their socialistic stuff, some of which is fairly good, most of which would be intolerable in a country of free enterprise and initiative.

APPROPRIATE INTERRUPTION

The interruption of great musical performances has provided more than one story of an outburst of artistic temperament on the part of a renowned artist. When the news of Mussolini's fall reached America an interruption of the Sunday N.B.C. Symphony program was necessary. The conductor of the program was the great Italian, Arturo Toscanini.

It was one interruption which that great artist would never resent, for he himself was a victim of Fascism and had been for many years a self-appointed exile from Italy. The program interrupted was devoted entirely to the works of the Italian patriot composer Giuseppe Verdi.

The number interrupted was an aria from Verdi's opera "The Force of Destiny," entitled "Peace, Peace"—an echo of the cry that was at that very moment resounding in the streets of Milan and other Italian cities.

HOME TOWN PROGRESS

Certain towns are referred to as "progressive" communities. It is a reputation which any city or town can envy. How is that reputation obtained?

A great factor in a progressive community is the existence of a co-operative spirit, a willingness of people to take hold and work for the public good. That usually means the maintenance of organizations that promote the public welfare, and get needed things done.

One sign of a progressive community is a willingness to take up good ideas that have been worked out elsewhere. The progressive community hates to fall behind in the race. A progressive town is proud of maintaining a good appearance, and its homes and public places are kept in attractive order, so that the community is admired by visitors.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND

Somewhere in England there's a little town,
With thatched-roofed houses of ancient renown.
In the drowsy stillness of a summer's day
A handful of people are wending their way
To a little stone church on a hillside green
Where the flag of Empire aloft can be seen.
There in the churchyard, with sanctity blest,
A Canadian flyer is borne to his rest.
Far from his home and those he holds dear,
He is cared for with reverence by the villagers there.
His last resting place in hallowed with love;
And the flowers of England are planted above.

HANDY!

The little gadgets that are getting hard to get—they were handy, weren't they? Something for the kitchen, or the cellar workshop, or the home garage. What becomes of these little familiar things when they vanish? They just make room for other gadgets, other little handy gadgets.

That can of chemical that would do the work of ten men, that new spray gun, that magic fix-all, if you're missing them now, look for them in the news of battle—between the lines, of course, for you don't see them among the awards for heroism. In different form they are there, though.

Take the one that inflates a rubber life-raft for the pilot who has bailed out over the ocean; it's just a small container of gas—you could put it on a kitchen shelf, and it hardly would be noticed. Or take the can of something or other that men adrift in the ocean can pour onto the waters, that spreads and makes a great patch of yellow that can be seen by rescuers far above.

Just gadgets—the housewife has long been familiar with similar aids. Yes, just gadgets—but handy!

ARE YOU ON TIME?

Among the annoying people who cause irritation are the folks who are always late. If they are asked to meet for a committee meeting at 8 o'clock, it may be 8.15 before they get there. Some folks figure that the rest of the committee will be late, so they won't waste time waiting for anyone else.

It was one of the merits of the old time school, that it emphasized quite strongly the idea of being on time. The teacher would often show the child the school register, and say that if he was absent or tardy a black mark would be made against his name, which would mar his record. The children hated those black marks, and learned that it was important to be on time.

Modern schools also tell the pupils that it is very important to get to places promptly. So there are not so many tardy marks. Somehow when people get out in life where no record is kept of their punctuality, many of them seem to have forgotten these lessons.

THE CENSOR IS HUMAN

Any one who has a member of their family in any of the services, particularly overseas, well knows what a censor is and how that officious person interferes with correspondence.

In fact the censor is looked upon as anything but an agreeable person and often times he is called inhuman.

But the censor, in spite of our imaginings, is just an ordinary man or woman, with, of course, an education along particular lines.

For proof we offer this little story: John Gante, an American soldier in North Africa, about to return to his home town on leave, wrote his wife as follows: "Oh, boy, how I miss you. I can hardly wait till I get home. (I hope the censor doesn't mind me writing this)."

The censor didn't. He appended: "The censor wishes he was home too."

Some people are complained of for talking too constantly. There is no law in Canada requiring anyone to listen to them.

When people spend their money at home, a good part of that money comes back to them in the increased prosperity of the home town.

Away Back When

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

Thou life was lived in Upper Canada in the early years of the century hundreds has been the subject of several successful Canadian novels. Their authors no doubt drew their material from authentic family records and stories from the days of their great-grandparents etched out by their own vivid imagination.

It is of great interest then to find a well-written book by a keen observer, an Englishman, who spent two and a half years travelling about on horseback through the settlements of Upper Canada from the Niagara to the Detroit river from early in 1812 to June 1820. He lived for months in several settlements and recorded his observations and facts and figures in a book of 800 pages.

The traveller and writer was John Howison, Esq. of the Honourable East India Company's service and in the book's preface he says his visit to Upper Canada was for the purpose of investigating its suitability for British settlers with regard to soil, climate, living conditions and other useful information. Fourteen of the chapters in the book are devoted to Upper Canada and two added chapters describe a trip through New York state and visit to New York and Philadelphia.

Howison comments rather caustically on some of the settlers he met in the Niagara peninsula. His description of a visit to the village of St. Catharines one hundred and twenty-four years ago makes amusing reading for its citizens of 1943.

As his book shows, Howison did a very thorough piece of work in a highly interesting way and his advice and information must have proved useful to British emigrants. The title of his book is:

Sketches of Upper Canada, Domestic, Local and Characteristic to which are added Practical Details for
The information of emigrants of every class and some recollections of the U.S.
By John Howison, Esq. of the Honourable East India Company.

The book from which the extracts given were taken was published in Edinburgh and London in 1825 and is the third edition so Howison's book must have appeared shortly after his return to the old land in 1820 and must have been in demand.

Mr. Howison starts his story of his journey on his arrival by sailing vessel in Montreal. He writes that he was "struck by the pretentiousness of the buildings, the hospitality and polished manners of the people and the air of enterprise and activity that is every where exhibited in it, which appear to particular advantage when contrasted with the dullness, gloom and dirtiness of Quebec."

He witnessed the arrival in port of a number of Scottish immigrants. "A seven weeks passage had not diverted them of a single national characteristic," he notes and tells how the ardour of a French Canadian porter who had picked up a trunk and put it in his cart was damped by the alarmed Highland owner who, with abusive Gaelic exclamations, made him put it down again.

From Montreal to the Gungahry settlement Howison drove over rough roads in a caliche with a talkative Canadian driver. He saw fields of buckwheat, red wheat, rye, Indian corn and barley near Lachine. In Gungahry few settlers had cleared more than sixty or seventy acres, the great majority of the houses were one roomed, and of logs and the ringing of the axe could be heard from all sides as the settlers laboured at clearing. Piles of great logs burned here and there. He noted oak trees that he estimated at five or six hundred years old. The soil was a rich leaf mould and he saw two fields that had been cropped for twenty years with no loss of fertility.

Referring to the rapids in the St. Lawrence he writes that he learned a company had been incorporated to build a canal between Montreal and Lachine at a cost of 100,000 and he felt that growing traffic might result in other canals being cut.

From Brockville he continued his westward journey in a batteau rowed by French Canadians, the road being too bad for travel. Each batteau had five rowers and a steersman, the passengers and their baggage and five batteaux travelled together on his trip. The voyage was made interesting to the English traveller by a night chase after three deer swimming the river in which Indians in canoes with torches joined. As a result a feast on roasted deer meat was held on shore. Travellers on batteaux had to carry their food with them.

Arriving in Kingston harbor Howison saw at anchor in the harbour the great British gun warship St. Lawrence which had been built there and several 90 gun frigates; on the stocks were the unfinished hulls of two 74 gun vessels, now completed after the peace of 1812. Of the St. Lawrence he writes, "She made us masters of Lake Ontario without her firing a single shot, as the American fleet never ventured out after she was launched."

Kingston and its 800 inhabitants did not greatly impress the traveller. "There is nothing the least interesting in the streets or buildings. The better class of people, most of them in the mercantile line, live in good style but are not very hospitable."

He saw the arrival of several brigades of batteaux from Montreal full of immigrants and their belongings and remarked that these people had no idea that they could buy the necessities of life in Canada for they had brought from the old land chairs, tables, chests of drawers and other things, the cost of transportation being more than the furniture was worth.

John Howison set sail from Kingston for York in the steamer Frontenac, one hundred and seventy feet long and thirty-two feet wide. Two paddle wheels drove her through the water and he writes she was built that length so she might cover three waves and so be prevented from pitching violently in rough weather.

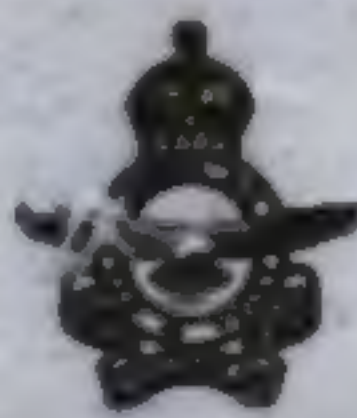

His journey to Maddy York and his description of the new little capital where he stayed only a few hours will be described in the next instalment of his Sketches.

Summer Joys

The summer days are come again;
Once more the glad earth yields
Her golden wealth of ripening grain,
And breath of clover fields,
And deepening shade of summer woods,
And glow of summer air,
And winging thoughts, and happy moods
Of love and joy and prayer.

The summer days are come again;
The birds are on the wing;
God's praises, in their loving strain,
Unconsciously they sing.
We know Who giveth all the good
That doth our cup o'erbrim;
For summer joy in field and wood,
We lift our song to Him.

— S. Longfellow.

By The Wayside

In a secluded spot that so far has escaped the eagle eye of the village weed cutters we noted to-day a delightful floral medley of pansies, tansy, chrysanthemum and early golden rod, interwoven with flimsy Queen Anne's Lace. Nature has a good eye for colour combinations.

The robins are getting ready to sit. They are picking over every inch of ground in the garden, laying up provisions for a long journey. What's become of our little friends, the English sparrows? They seem to have disappeared from these parts where, at this time of the year, the drive is usually full of them, lying flat in the shallow ruts, and sitting up with chickweed weeds.

Pickle Time

By the end of the month tomatoes should be plentiful and we can begin making Chili Sauce. Most of us are out at work every day now, so Miss Malow has volunteered to do our pickling, we to provide the makings. Her only reason, according to her tell, is that she loves the delightful aroma, particularly of the Chili sauce. So here's your recipe:

CHILI SAUCE—1 6-quart basket tomatoes, 3 onions (chopped), 4 green peppers, 2 cups cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 cups corn syrup, 4 tablespoons mixed pickling spices (tied in a bag).

Peel the tomatoes and cut in pieces; chop onions and peppers; put in large preserving kettle. Cook slowly, uncovered, for 3 hours, or until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal at once. Yield: approximately 7 pints.

There are two ways to prevent pickle sauces from burning as it begins to thicken. Rub preserving kettle with a hard fat before putting in the ingredients. Or, slip an old tin pan under the preserving kettle during the last 1/2 hour of cooking. If you have to leave the kitchen for any length of time, put the kettle in a 250 degree oven leaving the door ajar.

Only twenty more days to the First Day of School!

When Clothes Were Clothes

By way of refreshment we have been dipping into a bound volume of Godey's Lady's Book, published at Philadelphia in the Centennial year of 1876.

Justice is done to current fashions in hand-tinted plates, one for each month. Tight-fitting basque bodices were buttoned up to the throat, had long sleeves, fitted into the shoulder without fullness, and finished with elaborate cuffs. Skirts swept the ground, and all had trains which swept up more ground. They fitted snugly in front with an overskirt or apron and ballooned out at the back over bustles.

Here is a seaside costume, designed to be worn in August: It is to be made of summer beige material on the newest shade of buff or gray. The very long polonaise comes down very nearly to the bottom of the underskirt in front and is loosely caught up very low down in the back, so that the underskirt may be either quite plain or merely trimmed with one flounce of plaiting at the back. Extremely handsome and with one flounce of plaiting at the back. Extremely handsome and with one flounce of plaiting at the back. Extremely handsome and with one flounce of plaiting at the back.

With a straw boater, trimmed with ribbons of the same shade, and a cluster of field flowers, it will prove a very useful and elegant costume for the country and the beach, the description concludes.

Clothes were clothes in those days, even holiday clothes in August. What a contrast!

Pie

When it comes to pie-making, Canadian women are artists. True, the exactions of war have partly submerged the art, but it will rise again as soon as women have more time to spend in their kitchens, and sugar, spices, raisins, currants and other once more flow freely into our cupboards.

British Barge-Borne Balloon Unit

W.A.A.F. girls are helping the British crews manning the balloon barges by provisioning them with food. This is one of the latest W.A.A.F. activities. Picture shows: W.A.A.F.'s unloading provisions to be transferred to barge-borne balloon unit.

Pie, as we understand it, is almost unknown to the British. For one thing, their ovens are not geared up to it. They are built for long, slow cooking. Look in an English cookery book and you'll find three words on every page, "Bake one-and-a-half hours." "Bake three hours." We recall with painful distinctness the appalling mess we made trying to make a lemon pie and bake it in an English oven.

First, there was a walk of two miles to the village for lemons, which were obtained with difficulty, but there was no such thing as a pie plate of the right shape and size for a Canadian pie, so we had to make shift with a "flan tin." Butter, eggs and milk were produced on the spot. Then there was the business of blowing up the kitchen range to approximately 450 degrees to bake the shell. Being doubtful of the flour we sifted it five times through a sieve. Well, the oven just wouldn't boom. After three hours, in which we had burned almost the entire supply of wood and coal on the place, it was at about the right temperature for the cat to take a nap in.

Finally, we compromised with a boiled sweet pudding over which we poured the lemon pie mixture, topping it off with the regulation meringue. The oven was warm enough to brown that.

It was a very good pudding, but it wasn't lemon pie.

Amalfi

Built upon the steep side of a mountain, the houses one above another, the beautiful Italian town of Amalfi looks out over the Bay of Salerno. Not far away, but just hidden from view, rises the Isle of Capri, beyond is Naples, beneath the shadow of Vesuvius.

A strange little town, this Amalfi, with narrow streets, some of which are but stairways, its pretty Moorish bridges and moss covered walls. Here is one of the finest cathedrals in Italy, containing beautiful mosaics brought from Palestine, and a very old campanile.

Up until a few years ago the people were miserably impoverished and the little town sent each year many immigrants to America whose sons may even now be bombing nearby Naples.

In Amalfi is an old Capucine monastery from which the monks were driven years ago. It is now a hotel, probably one of the most picturesque in the world. Before the war the traveller could dine out in the pergola, cooled by the breezes from off the beautiful bay. As he watched the moving shadows on the moonlit water, the scraping of an anchor chain came faintly to his ear, a sail was raised and silently a boat glided away. Or he might wander about the old building, from the chapel where monks were wont to pray, to the cloisters that have been torn away by a landslide. In the little cell where he slept as he never slept before, the moon cast its soft light. There was a wonderful feeling of peace and contentment in the air.

"Sweet the memory is to me
Of a land beyond the sea,
Where the waves and mountains meet,
Where, amid her mulberry trees,
Sits Amalfi in the heat
Bathing ever her white feet
In the tideless summer seas."

So sang the poet Longfellow after one of his visits to the dream town of Amalfi.

CANNED FOODS ARE AS IMPORTANT AS AMMUNITION

WOMEN OF ONTARIO Your Help is URGENTLY NEEDED

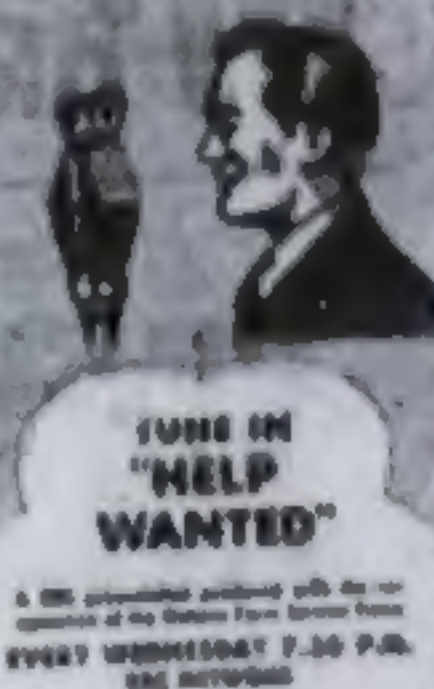

WITH more and more Canadian Troops going into active service as the Allied Forces press the attack, Canned Foods become as vitally essential as bullets.

5,000 Ontario Women and Girls will have to replace the workers who usually man the Canning Factories each season. These workers are now almost entirely employed on year-round war jobs, but the canning crops of Ontario still must be saved for Victory.

Ontario's youth has volunteered and has been organized to harvest the abundant crops of tomatoes, corn, peaches and grapes from fields and orchards of Ontario. Ontario's Mothers and Sisters—housewives and unemployed girls, from 16 to 60—most of whom have never seen the inside of a canning factory before, are URGENTLY NEEDED in the canning factories of this province to save every ounce of precious food in the next 12 weeks.

NO WORKING PERM. IS REQUIRED FROM EMPLOYMENT AND SELECTIVE SERVICE FOR THIS WORK. Current wages will be paid. The work is not hard and good living quarters will be arranged for if you are employed away from home.

Do YOUR Part. Act NOW! Today, before you forget. Apply at once to the superintendent of the nearest canning factory, if you live near one, or see the Agricultural Advisor at your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office, for full information. If neither is convenient to you, write direct to Farm Service Force, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

IF

Canadian Armed Forces are to be properly fed on the battle line.

Canadian Homes are to have sufficient Canned Fruits and Vegetables this Winter.

YOU will have to "lend a hand" in Canadian Canning Factories within the next 10 weeks.

Former Resident C.W.A.C. Graduate

In the large class graduating recently at No. 3 Basic Training Centre, Canadian Women's Army Corps, Kitchener, was Pte. Mary Bishop, niece of the famous Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, who decided to follow in the footsteps of her father, Lieut.-Col. R. W. Bishop, of Hamilton, formerly of London, when starting her military career.

During the construction of the Queen Elizabeth Highway, the Bishop family were Grimsby residents and Pte. Mary is well known in this district.

Had the air force been willing to accept women pilots, Mary Bishop's basic training might have been at Rockcliffe instead of Kitchener, for she has put in 30 hours solo flying and is a licensed civilian pilot. When she discovered that this field was closed to her, she cast her lot with the army. Having had experience in advertising, she felt that her qualifications in secretarial work could best be used in the C.W.A.C.

Born in London, Mary Bishop is proud to know something about military district No. 1, but she enlisted in military district No. 2 as she had been working there. Her father was a district engineer of floor in London in the last war and is still an officer of the Seventh mess.

Tall, slender, with auburn hair, Pte. Mary Bishop took her place proudly with the other graduates, as they marched to the parade grounds, where Col. E. M. Ansell, M.C., V.D., was inspection officer. To the stirring music of the C.W.A.C. Pipe Band, under Pipe Sgt. Lillian Grant, the class marched past the saluting base where Col. Ansell was accompanied by Lieut. Col. Mary J. Dover, officer commanding No. 3 Centre; Major Elizabeth Carter, Capt. Frances McCubbin, staff officer, M.D. 1, and Lieut. Eleanor Riley, Lieut. K. M. Taylor was officer I.C.

Grape Price Set At $50 Per Ton

Is Five Dollars Higher Than Last Year Estimated That Crop Is 22 Per Cent Below 1942.

The Ontario Liquor Control Board on Tuesday approved a price of $50 a ton for grapes to be used for wine manufacturing.

This figure, an increase of $5 per ton over last year's price, was agreed upon by the grape growers of the Niagara district and the wine manufacturers.

The board has authority to pass on the price set.

The grape crop this year is estimated at 22 per cent less than 1942's volume, in line with the restricted fruit crop generally.

The higher price per ton compensates the growers for the loss in volume.

It is not anticipated that native wines will suffer a shortage by reason of the scanty crop, as the gallonage is restricted to 80 per cent of that put out in the basic 12-months' period ending October 31, 1942.

They Congratulate Their Mayor

(St. Catharines Standard)

Mayor Charles Daley was congratulated by his city council Monday night on his election as Lincoln County's representative at Queen's Park. A resolution to this effect was moved by Ald. Fred Beattie and seconded by Ald. Estelle Cuffe.

Ald. Beattie, who as president of the Lincoln Liberal Association, had been active on behalf of A. J. Haines, good naturedly warned the mayor "not to let the tail wag the dog, or we may have to call you back home."

Ald. Cuffe, who had spoken in support of the C.C.F. party during the election campaign commented that although she had frequently "not seen eye-to-eye" with the policies of Mayor Daley's party, she wished him success nevertheless.

Ald. A. E. Coombs hastened to assure the mayor that "I did not vote against you. I was returning officer, and didn't have a vote."

Mayor Daley graciously thanked the council for its good wishes, and hoped that he would justify their confidence. Then, in the jovial spirit of the repartee, he added, "that is, justify the confidence of those of you who had some in me!"

The sudden passing of Fanny Louise Larsen last Thursday afternoon came as a great shock to the community.

While she had been ill about two weeks with meningitis, she had been progressing most favourably until a sudden cerebral complication Thursday caused her death.

Dr. A. F. McIntyre says she did not have a communicable type of meningitis.

She was born in Niagara Falls, N.Y., in April, 1925, and was in her nineteenth year. She had resided here for the last 14 years, and was a member of St. Andrew's Anglican Church.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Larsen, she is survived by her grandfather, Louis Larsen; two sisters, Jean and Betty, and one brother, Louis, all of Grimsby.

Casket bearers were Stanley Reilly, David Dick, Bruce Shafer, Ted Konkie, Newell Smith and Raymond Benyk.

PRICE PROSECUTIONS SHOW BIG INCREASE

A general tightening in the enforcement of the wartime regulations governing prices and supply has resulted in an increase of 62 per cent in the number of prosecutions during the last six months. Making the announcement, F. A. McGregor, enforcement administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said convictions had been registered in nine out of every ten cases entered for trial. The Board cracked down on violations of the price ceiling regulations, prosecuting in 791 cases, an increase of 478 over the preceding six month period.

"The importance of price control is appreciated by the courts as being more fully reflected in fines levied," Mr. McGregor said.

The man who used to turn curve at 70 miles per hour has slowed down on account of tires, but he will soon be trying start a fire by using gasoline.

MORE BLOOD

Donors for this August clinic will not be called again until the November clinic.

With this August clinic the cycle is complete and the committee will then be in a position to conduct the clinics without worrying about a full quota of donors.

Much information of interest to donors and prospective donors is contained in the following list of "Questions and Answers" on the subject, issued by the Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross. Why Does the Canadian Red Cross Need Blood?

Dried serum can only be made from human blood. This serum is needed in very large quantities for the treatment of members of our Armed Forces as well as civilians who are war casualties. Canadian dried blood serum is now being used on all fighting fronts. All men and women in good health, between the ages of 18 and 45.

How Do I Know Whether I am Physically Fit to Donate Blood?

When prospective donors arrive at a Blood Donor Clinic they are interviewed by a physician. If the donors are found to be under par they are advised to consult their family doctor.

How Much Blood Do I Donate?

350 c.c. which equals about $\frac{1}{4}$ of a pint.

Do I Have to Go on a Special Diet Before Donations?

Only for the meal immediately preceding the donation which must be free from fat. Supplied to donors by the Blood Donor Clinics.

Do I Have to Undress at the Clinic?

No. Since the blood is taken from the vein on the inside of the elbow the donor is only required to bare the arm.

Is It Very Painful to Donate Blood?

No. An area from which the blood is drawn is anesthetized.

How Long Does This Take?

It takes only a few minutes for the donation to be given, but the person remaining on the couch for about five minutes afterwards. Tea, coffee, or milk is served with doughnuts and cookies in the refreshment room. Usually it is possible to leave the clinic within 45 minutes.

How is the Blood Taken and by Whom?

Every clinic is equipped with beds. The donor rests on his back with one arm outstretched sideways. A nurse cleans the inside of the elbow with antiseptics ready for a physician, who first injects a small amount of anesthetic and then introduces a hollow needle into the vein. The blood then flows through a tube into a sterile bottle. When the needle is removed, a sterile dressing is applied.

What is Done With My Blood Afterwards?

The blood is processed as speedily as possible. The serum is withdrawn and after the necessary tests are made, is pooled and dried. It is the dried serum, packed and hermetically sealed in tins, which is sent overseas.

How Many Clinics are Now in Operation in Canada?

Thirty-seven established clinics are operating throughout the Dominion, while two mobile units are at work in Ontario. These units visit centres where there are no regular clinics.

When Did This Service Commence?

The Canadian Red Cross Blood Donor Service was instituted in January, 1943.

How Many Donations Were Made During 1942?

Over 151,000.

Does the Red Cross Really Know How Much Blood Will Be Needed?

No. The demand will jump enormously when the Canadian Army goes into action. In January, 1943, the objective was 2,000 donations per week. By the close of the year the Red Cross was receiving 6,000 donations per week.

Has an Objective Been Set for 1943?

Yes, because of anticipated needs the Red Cross is asking the people of Canada to provide 12,000 donations each week.

Is Dried Serum as Good as Direct Transfusion?

In many cases it is much better. —o blood typing is necessary, and since it will keep for many years it can be stored until required. Distilled water is all that is required to be added to the dried serum to bring it back to the equivalent of whole blood. It can be used in places such as bombed areas or near the front line, where it would be impossible to give a direct transfusion.

Does the Red Cross Really Pay Anything to Blood Donors?

No. Absolutely not. Otherwise it would not be a Voluntary Blood Donor Service.

Are Blood Donors Recognized?

After the third and subsequent donations you can easily spot donors by the badge they wear.

How Often Are Blood Donations Made?

Not less than every two months. The blood given is fully replaced in volume and content very soon after each donation. Several men in Canada have already given twelve donations, while some have given twenty donations.

How Do I Become a Donor?

Communicate with any of the following local committees and they will be pleased to give you further information: Wm. Newman, Chairman; R. C. Bourn, Harold B. Matchett, Herb. Betzner, Erwin Phelps, K. C. Baxter, Russell Terry.

RATION BOOK

coupons in the No. 3 book will commence to become valid on September 2nd. The spare "A" coupons in No. 2 being used for meat will continue to be used until they are all used up. Coupons for meat in the No. 3 book will not be valid until all the coupons in the No. 2 book have been used.

Should any other commodity be rationed before the meat coupons in the No. 3 book are used up, then the spare "B" and "C" coupons in book 2 will be used.

In order to secure the No. 3 book the form card in the back of the No. 2 book has to be filled in and signed and brought in for the new book. This is the same procedure as used when the No. 1 books were turned in last March for the present No. 2 book.

The form in book No. 2 must be properly signed and can be brought in by a person other than to whom it is issued.

In no case remove the form from the book. The book must be kept intact.

CONVERTED CRANKCASE MAKES NIFTY FRYING PAN

On the home front the Boy Scouts have long been busy collecting old aluminium pots and pans to convert into airplanes. From near the battle front comes a different story of salvage—a story of how some soldiers converted the aluminium crankcase of a wrecked plane into a serviceable frying pan to cook their supper.

It seems that these soldiers had managed to secure a few eggs as well as one of those precious tubers known as onions—but they were minus a frying pan. Then one of them had a bright idea. If planes could be made from old frying pans, why not a frying pan from the wreckage of a plane. No sooner said than done.

A cast aluminium crankcase which they had salvaged was cleaned with sand and gasoline and then cut down with a hack saw. Pronto—a nifty aluminium frying pan! In with the onion, in with the eggs beaten up with a little canned milk, and soon the hungry men were feasting on a savoury omelette.

RIISING FARM PRICES

MAY MEAN INFLATION

Tikely warning that farm price increases are reaching dangerous inflation spreading proportions was issued by Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, last week. The chairman admitted that Canadian farmers entered the war under a handicap of abnormally low prices; but he pointed out with the possible exception of the exclusively wheat farmer, there has been abundant compensation since.

"Canadian producers must realize that they cannot expect to get American prices for their products unless Canada is prepared to allow all prices to rise up to the higher American levels, in which case it would be necessary for everyone, including farmers, to pay the high American prices for everything they buy," Mr. Gordon said.

At the outbreak of war, Britain had 22,300 tractors for agricultural work; today there are 125,000 in use.

They "Knewed"

AWAY BACK WHEN the present prosperous Town of Grimsby was known as "The Old Forty", the Sage of the Hamlet, in one of his heated debates on matters biblical, was heard to remark, "Why did the Lord give St. Peter the keys? 'Cause He knewed that He knewed'."

THAT'S THE REASON that the officials in charge of the Provincial election selected The Grimsby Independent as the printing plant to turn out the 50,000 ballots required for the polling booths of Lincoln. They knew, that The Independent "knewed", just how to handle a job of that importance in an accurate and efficient manner.

HIGH CLASS EQUIPMENT combined with skillful workmanship, place The Independent at the "top of the heap" in the Niagara Peninsula when fast service and quality production are required by the consumer.

Painfully Injured When Hit By Car

Mabel Grove, Clinton Township, Crossing Highway After Alighting From Bus, When Struck Down.

Struck by a car as she crossed from the south side of No. 8 highway to the north after alighting, with other passengers from an eastbound bus, on Saturday night, Mabel Grove, aged 14, of Clinton township sustained multiple lacerations to scalp, right leg injury and abrasions from head to foot. Dr. C. W. Elmore, of Beamsville, attended her.

According to Provincial Constable Ernest Hart, of Grimsby, the car driver, Arnold Bibby, 28, of Clinton township, claimed that, while westbound, he was blinded by bright lights of an eastbound bus which turned out to pass the one discharging passengers.

The child was found on the highway shoulder at a point 45 feet from where the impact is believed to have taken place. The accident happened at the brickyard road intersection.

Election Expenses Are Heaviest Yet

Will Amount to $1,500,000 or More — Proxy Vote Termed Extraordinary Expenditure — 40,000 Cheques Will be Issued.

Ontario's 1943 general election may prove to be the costliest in the history of the Province, according to officials. It is estimated the total expenditure is likely to run as high as $1,500,000. The exact sum will not be known until all accounts are received.

In former elections the municipalities paid 10 per cent of the cost of printing the voters' lists, but the act was amended at the 1942 session of the Legislature and the Province now bears the entire charge.

The expenses in connection with the proxy vote and the taking of the vote in military camps, are what may be termed extraordinary expenditures which do not occur in normal times.

Officials point out that the payment of election costs in connection with the machinery of election, is an ideal way of wealth distribution. In 1937 about 40,000 cheques for varying amounts were issued following the vote in that year, and it is expected there will be a substantial increase in 1943 payments.

Ever since Grimsby was divided into Wards for voting purposes, the Town has been divided as follows: North Ward, all that portion of the Town lying North of the C.N.R. Tracks. Centre Ward, all that portion of the town lying between the C.N.R. tracks and the H. G. & E. Railway lines. South Ward, that portion of the Town lying South of the H. G. & E. Railway lines. There is no H. G. & E. any more and also the town has grown considerably. As a result Council will consider ways and means of redividing the Wards.

Mayor Johnson stated that he could see no hope of the water in the lake lowering in the future, owing to the excessive amount of water being diverted to the chain of Great Lakes by power developments in the North. He was speaking in connection with what expenditure might have to be made at the pump house in order to protect it.

Raising Fne Hogs In Niagara Area

Peninsula Produces Large Percentage of Grade "A" Carcasses — Production is Also on The Increase.

The highest percentages of A grade hog carcasses marketed in Ontario are from the counties in the Niagara peninsula district, figures released by federal authorities reveal and breeders in this part of the province are not only meeting the challenge for more pork, but they are producing the best quality.

In the past, efforts have been centred on educating farmers to engage in the industry and to start with the right type of hogs.

Results indicate the success of the appeals. Officials point out that the marketing of the selected grade not only fills the market needs, but returns a premium to the owner, whose case is substantially bolstered.

Recent surveys also show that the hog-raising business is increasing here and that there is a continued improvement in type. Under existing prices the farmer is assured of a reasonable return, it is reported.

Proper Care Of Electric Irons

Conditions have certainly made us appreciate the wonderful electric equipment for the home that is so abundant in this country and the envy of women all over the world. Proper care of this equipment should be a routine matter and not one forced upon us by stern necessity.

If you own an electric iron be sure to take care of it. Many women are prone to attach the plug to the iron after the cord has been connected to the wall inlet, when the procedure should be exactly the opposite. So always attach the plug to the iron first and then connect to the socket. This will prevent the sparking which slowly destroys the metal of the iron terminals.

To-day, as always, the 'Salada' label is your guarantee of a uniform blend of fine quality teas.

"SALADA" TEA

Another point is to never use a light socket on a drop cord if it can be avoided. It just isn't built to carry the current necessary for an electric iron.

The most convenient location for an iron socket is on a wall a little higher than the level of the ironing board. That helps to keep the cord from dragging across the board as you iron.

Never overheat your electric iron — it wastes current, is a fire hazard and is hard on the delicate heating element. In time it may cause a breakdown in the heater wires. It may discolor the iron finish. If overheating causes the plating to peel off, the metal beneath may rust.

Be careful not to drop the iron — you may break a connection inside it, break the thermostat or throw it out of adjustment. The fall may chip or break the handle or scratch or nick the ironing surface so that it may injure delicate fabrics.

After using an iron always let it cool, then wipe with a damp cloth if necessary to clean, and rub dry. Never put it in water — it may damage the heating element and ruin the metal. When you stop to answer the doorbell or telephone,

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

SUMMER or winter, when nature cuts us with a blizzard of wind, torrential rains, lightning, ice, sleet or snow most people hurry for cover . . . and stay there. But not Hydro maintenance crews. For them a storm is the zero hour . . . and task forces go forth to battle.

Last winter's sleet storm in Eastern Ontario is just one example of their work. Hours of freezing rain followed by a blizzard sheathed the district in ice and snow. Streets and roads were blocked by a fantastic tangle of poles, trees and wires. Hundreds of Hydro men were down. Country roads blocked with snow.

Within a few hours over 200 Hydro men were on the job. Supplies were rushed to strategic points. Men and trucks went to work . . . line breaks were repaired, broken poles replaced, wires rehung. Point by point the battling "storm troopers" restored the flow of Hydro to war production plants, factories, farms and homes . . . pushed relentlessly ahead, day and night, until the job was done.

The work of Hydro maintenance crews is one of unrelenting vigilance. Power men go through regardless of conditions. Across Ontario, Hydro men are on the alert twenty-four hours a day . . . ready, at all times, to combat any storm . . . ready to meet any emergency . . . ready to stay on the job until power is again flowing . . . doing their part in helping Ontario's war-gear industries meet the supply of Victory munitions to the battle-fronts of the world.
